LibertyGives Foundation Helps Students Maintain Forward Momentum in Pandemic

Denver, Colo. – LibertyGives Foundation, the nonprofit organization of Liberty Media focused on the needs of underprivileged and at-risk youth in Colorado, is partnering with Denver Scholarship Foundation (DSF) to help Denver’s students maintain their forward momentum on their journeys to and through college amid the COVID-19 pandemic.

LibertyGives Foundation generously donated masks to DSF as DSF continues to be a first line of support to students’ and Scholars’ overall wellbeing, while continuing to advise them on academics, finances, career exploration, connection, housing, transportation, and basic needs.

Additionally, LibertyGives made a contribution in the 2019-2020 academic school year to the DSF Scholarship Fund, which supports 1,800 Denver Public Schools (DPS) graduates each year. The focus of the LibertyGives Foundation matches well with DSF which reports that 60% of students served by its College Access program have been referred to essential resources, such as food and housing assistance, since the pandemic began.

“The need to support our students, Scholars, and their families in innovative ways has never been greater,” said Lorii Rabinowitz, CEO of DSF. “Not only are we supporting them on their journeys to and through college, but we are committed to helping them find the resources needed for their ever-changing lives. DSF is grateful to LibertyGives Foundation for supporting our students—and our work to serve them—at this critical time.”

Since DSF was founded, 14 years ago, 7,020 promise-based scholarships have been awarded to DPS graduates. The strategic investment in the community has provided $43.4 million in scholarships to graduates who attend some of Colorado’s most prestigious colleges.
